

DNA is made up of four units or 'bases', known as A, C, G and T.

Each of the bases binds with one partner: A with T; C with G.

Your sequence bracelet should obey the same rules: look in the circles above to work out which coloured beads you should use.