

Giant Pandas are one of the few bear species that do not hibernate.

Natural habitat is only in the mountain ranges of central China.

Giant Pandas spend nearly 12 hours a day eating.

99% of their diet consists of different types of bamboo.

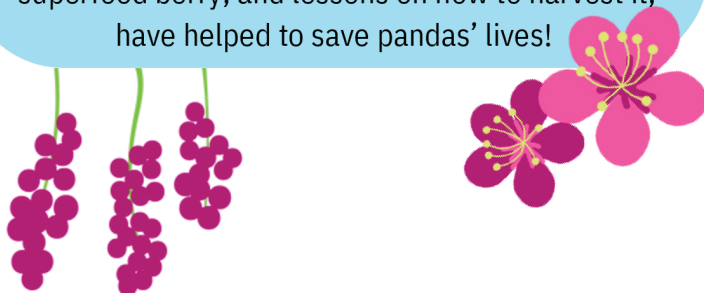

Once a year, over 400 species of butterflies visit the bamboo forest of southwestern China, where pandas live, including Jungle Queen Butterflies. It's like a butterfly explosion.

Their front paws have 6 digits! One is an extended wrist bone to help them climb and grab tasty bamboo.

Giant Pandas are able to climb a tree backwards, like a hand stand, to leave scent markings as a way of communicating with each other!

Schisandra berry conservation has helped increase panda populations by 17%. Efforts to save this superfood berry, and lessons on how to harvest it, have helped to save pandas' lives!
